

What audiences have to say...

About “Miss Communication”

“... informative, enthusiastic, and entertaining. Barb is a great communicator!”

Adrienne Hatch, MS, RD, CSSD, Director of Education, MA Academy

“Brilliant! Very good use of words and visuals. Created a memorable event!”

Asa House, RD, LDN, Clinical Dietitian

“Barb is a very dynamic speaker and very effective at keeping audience attention.”

Melissa Riley, MS, RD, LDN, SNSC

“Engaging and humorous! Full of essential information for everyone.”

Rebecca Heming, Dietetic Intern, University of Virginia

“Knowing how we miscommunicate can help us improve our communication skills.”

Bobbie Barron, RD, LDN, Senior Research Dietitian,

Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

“A compelling, fun, memorable, and helpful presentation to think about communication styles, challenges and strengths, and review the importance of effective communication.”

Erika Pied, MS, RD, LDN

“Interactive. The presentation was informative and provided an open opportunity for self-assessment.”

Arnetta Fletcher, PhD, RDN, LDN, Shepherd University

“Barb did a great job at keeping the audience engaged and participating. It was very informative and a great presentation!” Reem Salameh, RD, LDN, Nutrition Services Manager

“Excellent workshop experience. Forcing people to think and write will cement the learning from this session.” Rosemary E. Riley, PhD, LD, President, Straight Talk Nutrition LLC

.....

About “Connecting-Engaging-Inspiring”

“Engaging, hands-on, fun.”

Blake Connolly, Program Training Specialist

“Barb provided practical techniques to capture your audience’s attention – an invaluable resource.”

Megan Peterson, Health and Human Sciences Educator

“Barb’s presentation was engaging, interesting, and highly educational. I thoroughly enjoyed all the info presented.”

Daron Monnin, Health Educator

“Barb was engaging and interesting and I learned a lot about connecting, engaging, and inspiring my audience. This after 31 years of teaching.” Terri Newcom, Extension Educator

“Very engaging! She inspired me to think differently and find new ways to inspire people we teach to take action!”

Jay Christiansen, Extension Educator